

Pacific Bell's entry into the long-distance market will be good for the North Coast of California. It will increase competition which will lower prices to the benefit of consumers and businesses.